

Tristan Salles

School of Geosciences USyd

Coastal Revolution

Modelling

An aerial photograph of a coastal town. The foreground shows a rocky coastline with waves crashing against the shore, creating white foam. The middle ground features a curved road with a white railing, followed by a row of houses and buildings. The background shows a hillside covered with more houses and trees. The sky is clear and blue.

Coastal Evolution Modelling

Tristan Salles

School of Geosciences USyd

What is a model?

Data  Code  Output